GUITAR / KEYBOARD CHORDS:

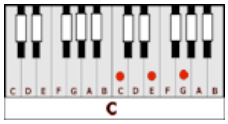

Am= xo221o

G= 32ooo3

C= x32o1o

INTRO: Am C G G Am

Am C
I opened my eyes to a war I couldn't see
G Am
Where fear tries to steal .. what grace gave to me
Am C
It whispers of dangers that may never appear
G Am
And points to the shadows instead of what's clear

Am C
It tells me to follow each troublesome trail
G Am
To search every corner where faith seems to fail
Am C
Buy worry's a master that never brings peace
G Am
It promises safety while tightening its leash

Am
CHORUS: Anxiety is not my shepherd; I will not follow where it leads
G Am Am – G - Am
I belong to Christ forever and His grace is all I need
Am
Fear may roar and rage around me, but it cannot steal my peace
G Am
The chief shepherd walks before me, and his faithfulness won't cease

INTERLUDE: Am G C G Am

Like a hound on a scent, I have chased every fear
G Am
I've run into tomorrow before it was here
Am C
I've carried burdens I never should hold
G Am
And traded God's promises .. for lies I've been told

          Am                              C
But the Father who feed every bird in the air
G                              Am
Already knows every burden I bear
      Am                                C
The God who has carried me all of these years
      G                                 Am
Has never once failed me and won't disappear

            Am
CHORUS:  Anxiety is not my shepherd; I will not follow where it leads
             G                                                  Am     Am – G - Am
             I belong to Christ forever and His grace is all I need
             Am
             Fear may roar and rage around me, but it cannot steal my peace
                   G                                                        Am
             The chief shepherd walks before me, and his faithfulness won't cease

BREAK:  Am   G     Am   G

             Am                              C                                  G
BRIDGE:  I lay every burden at your feet, the place where fear admits defeat
             G                                Am
             What once consumed my anxious mind, I leave behind, I leave behind
             Am                                   C                                 G
             Your peace now stands watch over me, a faithful guard through every need
                                                                                    Am
             The storm may rage, the night grow long, but You remain my .. steady song

                          N.C.
ENDING CHORUS:  Anxiety is not my shepherd; I will not follow where it leads
                                                                  Am – G - Am
                I belong to Christ forever and His grace is all I need
                 Am
                Fear may roar and rage around me, but it cannot steal my peace
                      G                                                          Am – G - Am
                The chief shepherd walks before me, and his faithfulness won't cease

                  Am                              G
                Anxiety is not my shepherd; I will not follow where it leads
                           Am                                    G                  Am
                The chief shepherd walks before me, and his faithfulness .. won't cease

            G                      Am       C
OUTRO:  Anxiety .. is not my shepherd
                  G       N.C              (end)
            Jesus Christ .. is leading me
